

Currency Converter

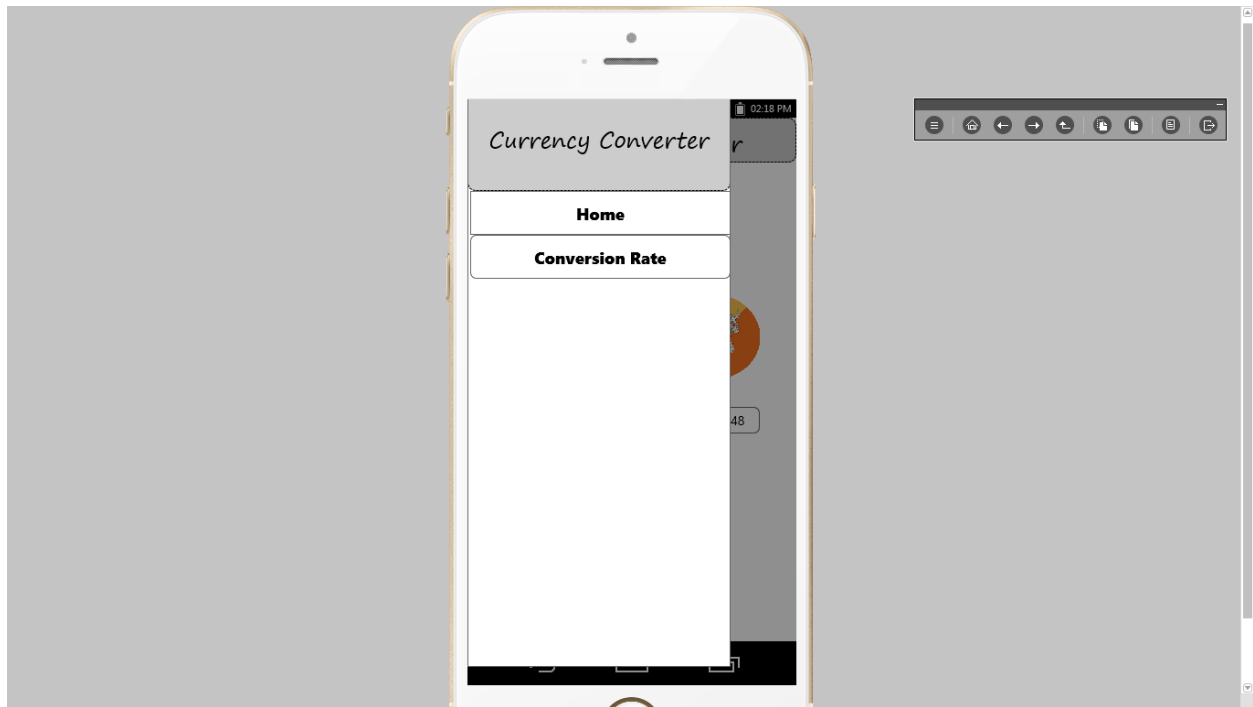

The user will be presented with this interface whereby he or she can choose the currency to be converted to another.

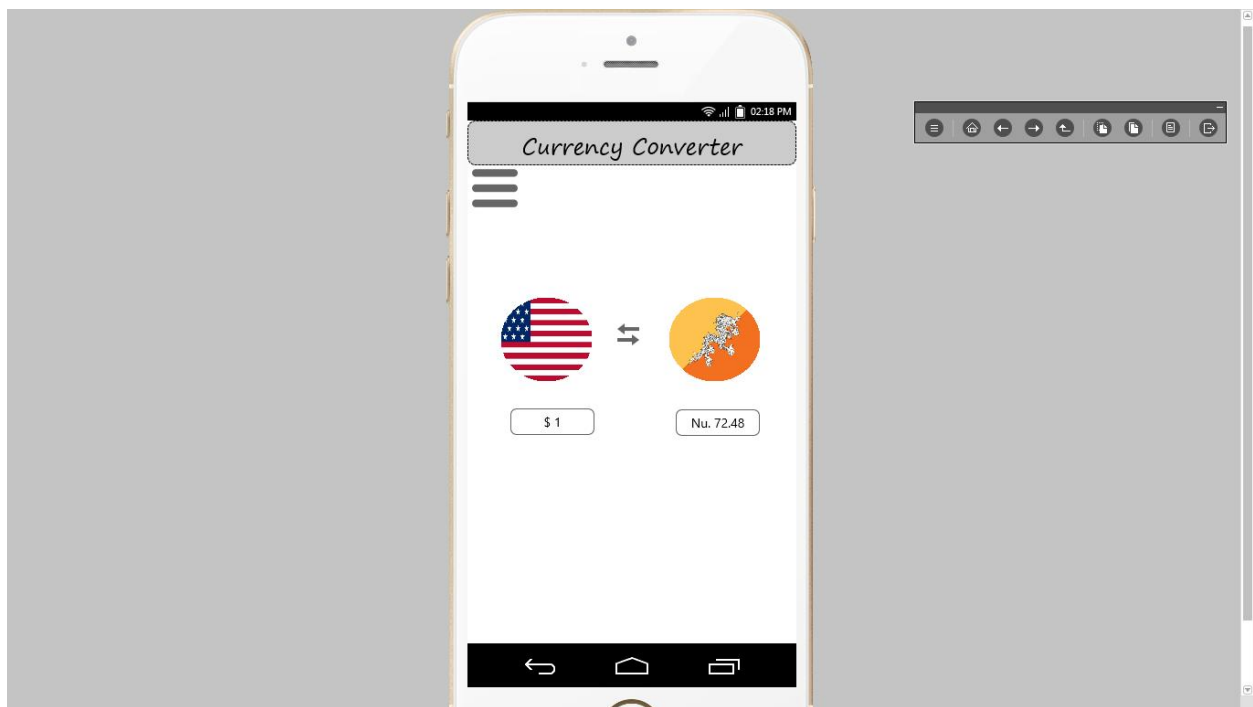

In this interface, user can choose currency to be converted from the listed currencies as shown above.

The user can manually put in the value of currency to be converted as shown above.

The user will also be provided with a menu to choose between currency conversion and the rate of different currencies.

The above interface shows the different conversion rate of different currencies.